

OCTOBER 30, 2008

➔ Fine Dining Deals In Newark!

Thursday, October 30, 2008

Say what you will about Newark, the newly created Greater Newark Convention and Visitor's Bureau is taking the city's image makeover seriously. Director Hector Ortiz says "you can have an attractive urban experience here - there's a lot more to Newark than most people think." Sure, we know what you're thinking, but c'mon, you know you're going to get down to NJPAC or the Pru Center for some world-class entertainment, take in a NJ Devils game, or pay a visit to one of the museums downtown. And while you're there, wouldn't you like to know about great places to grab a meal?

Go Newark Restaurant Week showcases a variety of Newark's international eats next week, November 3-13. Thirty-four premier restaurants in the city's downtown "entertainment district" are offering up to a 20% discount, and special prix-fixe menus. Check out the list of restaurants participating in this promotion, and download your savings pass here. If you've been longing to savor the Portuguese and Brazilian flavors of The Ironbound (aka tapas central), now's a good time. After all, even Zagat's finds Newark dining delicioso; they just published the city's own guide.

Many of the establishments are walking distance from Newark's Penn Station, but if you drive, parking is plentiful throughout the center.

Experienced Newark diners, tell us what you know and where to go....

Posted by Annette Batson on October 30, 2008 9:07 AM
Permalink | Talk back to the Barista! \(24\) | Email This Entry

Watsessing Dog Park FORUMS/BLOGS

Bloomfield Journal
Bloomfield Roundtable
Exit 148
NJ.com Bloomfield
Forum
WHNA Blog
WPCEssex

ORGANIZATIONS

Bloomfield Fire and Police Credit Union
Bloomfield Municipal
Youth Guidance Council
Bloomfield Third River
Bank Association
Boy Scout Troop 2, BSA
Collins House Essex
Greener Bloomfield
Watsessing Hts Assn

» OUTER BARISTAVILLE COMMUNITIES

Essex County
Little Falls, NJ
North Essex Chamber of Commerce
Old Belleville
Old Newark